

CTAS Review Procedures for 2022 1099-NEC & MISC Forms

With changes to the 1099-MISC form and the reintroduction of the 1099-NEC form, certain account numbers and object codes will need to be used. If you are going to use CTAS, for the 2022 1099's, you may need to change 2022 account numbers and object codes so the correct information flows into the forms.

Follow the steps below to ensure that the correct information is flowing into the 1099 forms.

Step 1: Run a 1099-NEC Report (Reports tab, Vendors icon) for the vendors that are to receive a 2022 1099-NEC form. (This example only contains 1 Vendor.)

The screenshot shows a web application window titled " CTAS TEST  Report Viewer". The main content area displays a 1099-NEC form for "New Township" and "Test Vendor 1". A red box highlights the amount "252.00" in the form.

Step 2: Run Vendor Ledger Report (Reports tab, Vendors icon) for the same vendors for the year 2022. The 1099-NEC report should match the Vendor Ledger Total.

The screenshot shows a web application window titled "Report Viewer". The main content area displays a Vendor Ledger report for "New Township" and "Test Vendor 1". The report includes a table of disbursements with columns for Date, Description, Check Number, Account Number, and Amount. A red box highlights the total amount "$814.80" at the bottom of the table.

New Township		Vendor Ledgers
Date Range
Vendor Name	Test Vendor 1
Federal ID Number:
Form 1099 Required:	Yes
Date	Description	Check Number	Account Number	Amount
12-15-2021	Test Entry1	4158	100-43240-384-	$525.00
12-15-2021	Test Entry2	4159	201-43240-384-	$37.80
12-15-2021	Test Entry2	4160	201-43240-300-	$252.00
Report Total				$814.80

The example above does not match, due to incorrect account coding. The first two disbursements have account coding that is outside the ranges provided for line 3 of the NEC form (see below for acceptable ranges). For any disbursements with incorrect account coding, edit the Disbursement coding to fall in the given account range.

This process would need to be completed for each vendor where the vendor ledger did not match the 1099-NEC report. Repeat steps above for 1099-Misc form if needed.
